

Civil rights suit filed against Meigs County general sessions judge, sheriff over 2023 arrest | Chattanooga Times Free Press

TIMESFREEPRESS.COM

1 comment 4 shares

Like Comment Share

Chattanooga Times Free Press · Follow
September 30 ·

A Meigs County judge had a woman arrested, held for contempt and then released the following day after her brother-in-law — a former Chattanooga police chief — inquired about her, according to a federal civil rights lawsuit.

Meigs judge target of second civil rights suit | Chattanooga Times Free Press

TIMESFREEPRESS.COM

Staff File Photo by Robin Rudd / The Meigs County Courthouse, in Decatur, Tenn., shown here ...

1

Like Comment Share

Comment as Kerri Long McConkey